WHEREAS:

The new state of Andhra Pradesh has come into existence after bifurcation of the erstwhile combined state of Andhra Pradesh in June-2014. In the process of fulfilling its commitment for formation of a modern State, the State has initiated its endeavors, primarily on infrastructure building and rapid industrialization. To support this initiative, Government of Andhra Pradesh (GoAP) has identified manufacturing as a key area and is establishing clusters to nurture growth in vital sectors like Auto and Electronics by setting-up industrial corridors, Special Economic Zones (SEZs) etc.,. The immediate necessity for Industrialization is the manpower development. In the process of industrialization and infrastructure building, it is obligatory on the part of GoAP to simultaneously develop a large pool of skilled manpower to cater to the needs of the industry and service sectors. In this endeavor, the State has earnestly decided to address the skill shortage which is much projected by the user Industry. The initiative of Statewide high priority for skill development shall also ensure up-gradation of skills. The sectors with largest manpower requirement in the coming years will be Manufacturing, Construction, Hospitality, Banking, Financial Services and Insurance and Information Technology/IT enabled services.

Eventually, the Skill Development has occupied the key focus area of GoAP. The APSSDC would provide the extra infrastructural requirements in selected academic institutions. In this process, the APSSDC has selected some of the leading Engineering Colleges/Govt. Polytechnics/Industry associated training institutions for providing the infrastructural facilities additionally required for running the Skill Development programs.

The APSSDC and G.Pullaiah College of Engineering & Technology which is selected for CM's Skill Excellence Center (SEC): ICT Lab have mutually discussed and agreed to enter into this agreement as detailed hereinafter.

Redefining Engineering Education For A New Age

By Mekhla Sinha (Executive Director) &
Neha Kapoor (Manager - HR) GHRDC

"The function of education is to teach one to think intensively and to think critically. Intelligence plus character - that is the goal of true education."

During the Covid-19 pandemic like every segment of society, the engineering education sector has also undergone profound changes and faced challenges ranging from closed campuses, adopting virtual mode of teaching & learning, industry interface, placements, internships, research and most importantly dealing with mental health & well-being of all concerned stakeholders.

The current crisis has posed some daunting challenges, but has also offered us a chance to re-think and re-imagine existing practices, policies, assumptions and arrangements of the engineering education system.

The pandemic has acted like a wake-up call, highlighting the urgency to look at everything in a new way. It has pushed us to move out of comfort zones and break the traditional practices, thereby strengthening the educational institutions. The faculty, staff, and students have all pulled together to adapt to the changes quickly, finding efficiencies in processes and new ways of working.

The post Covid-19 world demands for the industry and businesses to transform digitally. Technology has become the new language of the world, and has changed our lives immensely. Digitalisation had been foreseen as a trend shaping the education but now it has become a necessity with the Covid-19 crisis being a catalyst of the digital transformation in the education world.

Hence, the engineering colleges were forced to adopt online teaching methodology with little or no preparation in hand. On the positive side, this can be seen as an opportunity to transform towards Blended Learning in Engineering Education.

The Online Way of Teaching & Learning

As very rightly shared by Dr. Rajesh N. Patel, Director, Institute of Technology, Nirma University, Ahmedabad, Gujarat – "Let us introspect, let us all find the ray of hope within us, and let us start converting our difficulties into opportunities. In spite of all the challenges that education system is facing right now, it is constantly trying to make it better in every situation. And it is through the efforts of everyone who are connected directly and indirectly to the educational institutions, that the newer approaches are set and a better world is being formed!"

Engineering education has been traditionally content-centred, hands-on/ practical approach oriented, design-oriented, and focused on the development of critical thinking or problem-solving skills. The Covid-19 pandemic introduced an unprecedented and global need to explore the online teaching/learning opportunities within the entire spectrum of engineering education.

During our GHRDC Engineering Colleges Survey 2021, we have not only rated and ranked the colleges but have also discovered the ingenuity and resourcefulness of the institutes who have made use

T-Schools in new normal: How they rank up

The Dataquest Top T-School Survey 2021 gives a comprehensive view of the top institutes in India and the rapidly changing landscape in the post-pandemic era

We are back with the much-awaited Dataquest Top T-School Survey that highlights the top T-Schools across the country and what makes them special. The survey, which is an industry acclaimed hallmark on technical education and is highly trusted by students, parents and recruiters alike, is out with its 16th edition. Primarily, the survey focuses on T-Schools and their contribution to key skills in the technology industry, and ranks them through a comprehensive evaluation process.

The last year had been quite challenging for the industry owing to the COVID-19 pandemic, driving stakeholders to adapt to the changing work environment. The pandemic and consequent lockdown measures resulted in the 'new normal' of working from home, which is being appreciated by almost every industry, with many planning to adopt this work culture partially or permanently, going forward. As an added advantage, this change will greatly enable industries to access resources globally.

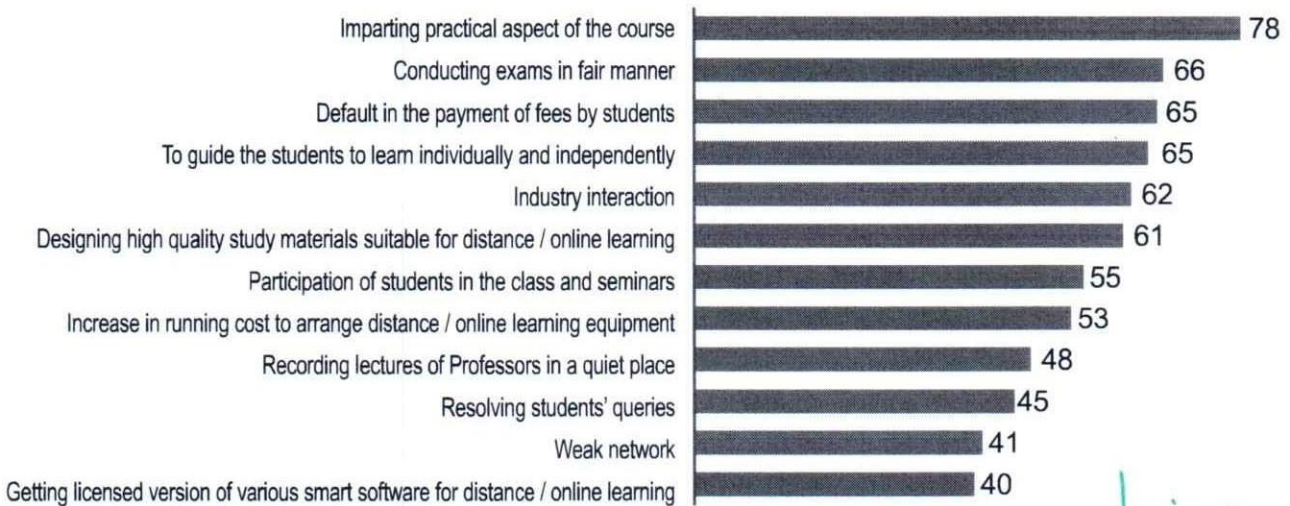

Given the current scenario, it is vital for engineering institutions in India to be future-ready. In this direction, the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) has taken some active measures. To start with, it has decided not to permit new engineering colleges from the academic year 2020-21; it will only grant approval for additional seats in existing institutions based on the capacity utilisation of the concerned institute. As per the initiative, AICTE will review the creation of new capacity every two years. This step is expected to encourage institutes to convert their current capacity in traditional disciplines to emerging new technologies such as artificial intelligence, blockchain, robotics, quantum computing, data sciences, cybersecurity and 3D printing and design.
